PRESS RELEASE

The American Association of Teachers of French (AATF) is pleased to announce that Louis Weiss has received a 2023 AATF Outstanding Senior in French Award. This award is only given to one student per school annually. This award is made out to students who have demonstrated excellence in the study of French as well as exceptional commitment to the French language and the many cultures where it is spoken. Recipients must be non-native speakers of French and be in their senior year, have completed three years of formal French study, maintain an "A" average in French and "B" overall, and participate in extracurricular French activities.

Louis Weiss has studied French for at least three years and is the student of Michelle Laird. Louis Weiss has studied participated and is a member and officer of French Club.

The AATF was founded in 1927 and has as its mission the promotion of the study of French language and French-speaking literatures and cultures at all levels. We are proud to recognize the achievements of outstanding students and their teachers. We hope that this award will motivate students to continue their study of French either through a career in teaching or as a complement to any other profession.
